If you haven't already, take the time to watch my review of the new features and features of Lightroom 5 (7m 27s) and if you have watched it, I would love to hear your thoughts on the video.

For a quick demo of Lightroom 5 on the desktop, check out our demo and see what's new:

<http://www.adobe.com/products/photoshop-lightroom.html> After a release of an entirely new version of the Adobe Photoshop Creative Suite product, the development team has plenty of new things to work on. There is plenty of room to improve the application, and the team is hard at work on a number of improvements. Here are just five of them. One of the new tools is the Live Filter. Not only is it called "Live" filter, but it is actually live; it is active, and the users can see the effect on the screen while the filter is applied. It is now very easy to remove the filter, immediately in a shot. Another new tool is the Magic Wand tool. Just as the name says, the tool scans the entire image and then decides which areas do not have the primary color. It can even automatically blur the rest of the image to maintain the desired effect. From those areas, you can then easily create a new selection — this time a smart selection, so it doesn't touch areas that are not needed. finally... I've been using Lightroom since 5.1 (PP) and have been waiting impatiently for 5.3, the product is brilliant. Discovering how easy Lightroom has made my life- a FAR better experience since the former niteclub and Filmools failed miserably. For all the people decrying LR as 'Image Editor only'... you know what? It's about time.
