Call 1-877-797-0711 We finally know the title for every Frozen movie, but what really matters is that it's not called Frozen II - The Game. Pixar's previous Oscar-winning short film Frozen, the result of a three-day animation workshop in which only six people were allowed to work, has been recreated in full 3D for the 2D platform game. The game itself is very basic; it is a collection of mini-games designed to be played as you wander around Norway, in the footsteps of the 3D movie. There are five tasks in all, and they cannot be played in any order. There's a collectible coin and a gold coin at the beginning of the game, and you need to achieve a certain score in each time to move on. It can be played solo, or you can pair up and share the control screens. The main reason to play it is to see the wonderful hand-drawn animation; the soundtrack is not very good, but
